12 June 2006 - Government's information office

Measures for implementation of the European Commission recommendations, identified in its Comprehensive Monitoring Report of 16 May 2006

I. Anti-Corruption:

i. Compulsory or voluntary nature of declaration of interests and assets by magistrates, MPs, political parties and all public servants.

Existing situation/ State of play

Civil Service

Obligations for declaring assets and conflict of interests exist for all civil servants, as provided by the Law on the Civil Servant.

MPs

In compliance with the Rules of Organization and Procedure of the National Assembly (NA), when introducing draft laws and statement in plenary session, or in a committee, an MP with financial interest in the discussed problem is obliged to disclose this interest.

Persons, taking high level state positions

The declarations of assets are also obligatory for a wide range of persons, taking high level state positions, including MPs, as provided by the current Law on Publicity of the Property Owned by Persons, Occupying High State Positions (LPPPOHSP). The obligation for giving written consent for publishing data from the assets declarations in the media refers only to those declarations, filed by the end of 2004, i.e. such consent for announcing the data is not required for the declarations after 1.1.2005.

Code of Ethics regulating the work of the members of government and other politically appointed officials in the executive

Pursuant to the Code of Ethics regulating the work of the members of government and other politically appointed officials of the executive, these persons are obliged to declare, apart from their assets, also any existence of conflict of interests, which conflict of interest they should avoid. The application of the Code of Ethics regulating the work of the members of government and other politically appointed officials of the executive may lead to sanctions under the form of administrative and disciplinary measures. As a rule, the Codes of Ethics may not be taken as obligatory legally binding, but more likely, the obligations ensuing from them are related with moral and hierarchical responsibility, i.e., they are to a greater extent voluntary. The declaration of conflict of interests on behalf of persons, taking high-level positions in the executive (the political positions) is not related to such a legally binding force, as is the declaration of the assets.

Magistrates

Pursuant to the Law on the Judiciary (LJ), the judges, prosecutors and investigators declare their incomes and property in the National Audit Office (NAO) at their appointment, and every year not later than 31 May, for the previous calendar year, as well as at their discharge, under the terms and conditions of the LPPPOHSP. The existing grounds for self-non-joinder and non-joinder, according to the procedural legislation The Civil Procedure Code (CPC), the Penal Procedure Code (PPC) and the Administrative Procedure Code (APC) represent a sufficient guarantee for avoiding conflict of interests while hearing cases.

Tax Officers

The employees of the National Revenue Agency (NRA), i.e. the tax officers, after taking into position and annually till May 31st are obliged to declare their property, including the one, which is matrimonial joint ownership, as well as the property of the children under age by a declaration according to a model, approved by the Executive Director of the NRA. The employees of the NRA can not:

1. be sole traders or partners in commercial companies;
2. participate in management and control bodies of commercial companies, cooperations and other organizations;
3. hold other paid position or carry out another paid activity except scientific, lecturing or activity stipulated by the Law for the Copyright and its Related Rights.

These circumstances are certified before the employer by a declaration.

The incompatibility with these requirements as well as the non-submission in time of the asset declaration is being considered grounds for unilateral termination of the legal relations of employment with the Agency employee without advance notice.

Customs Officers

Under the Law on the Customs the requirements towards the employees of the Customs Agency are fully identical to the ones towards the Tax Officers. The incompatibility with the relevant requirements as well as the non-submission in time of the asset declaration constitutes grounds for unilateral termination of the legal relations of employment with the Customs Officer without advance notice.

Ministry of Interior

The requirements towards the public servants in the Ministry of Interior (MI) are identical – according to the Law on the Ministry of the Interior, the public servants are obliged to declare their assets/ property as well as their interests. Non-compliance with the requirements of the Law on the Ministry of the Interior leads to disciplinary responsibility, incl. discharge in the case of lack of immediate declaration of interests when it had been necessary.

Political Parties

By 31 March of the current year, the political parties are obliged to submit to the NAO the verified financial reports. Lists of donators and the size of the donations and testaments, made by the natural persons and the donations, made by the legal persons, as well as lists of the commercial companies with under 5% public or municipal participation, which provided resources to the relevant party, are to be enclosed to the reports, i.e. they are made public before the NAO. The NAO has for its obligation to publish in the official bulletin and on the Internet web page, by 15 April of the current year the names of the parties, which have not submitted their reports in time. The NAO, within a 6-month term from receiving the financial reports, audits the financial activity and the management of the provided property for their compliance with the requirements of this law and of the Law on Accountancy. The NAO publishes in the official bulletin and on the Internet web page the report on the results from the audits within one month after their completion. In case of failure to submit, or failure to submit in time the financial reports to the NAO, the political parties lose their right to state subsidy by the time of the next elections for MPs. In case of violations in the collection, or expenditure of resources, in the management of the provided property, or in the financial reporting, found out during the audit by the NAO when there is sufficient data for committed crime, following a decision of the NAO the report is sent to the Sofia City Prosecution Office, within 7 days of its adoption.

Existing situation/ State of play

According to the Bulgarian legislation (Law on the Normative Acts) any persons, in respect whereof duties or restrictions arise by virtue of a new statutory instrument, are being notified prior to the adoption of the said piece of legislation. Notification is effected by means of transmittal of the draft to representative organizations of such persons, by publication of the said draft through insertion in the mass communication media, via the Internet, or through public announcement of the said draft in another appropriate manner, and those affected may present proposals and objections to the relevant competent authority within a time limit which may not be shorter than one month.

Many specialized pieces of legislation (lex specialis) provide explicitly for the accomplishment of public consultation procedure, which is dully followed. The NGOs, branch associations and all stakeholders may express their opinion in the drafting proceedings. The tripartite system is well established and functioning. The NGO sector may participate in the work of various working groups and councils, which are involved in the decision-making process.

Detailed additional information will be provided, if necessary.

iii. Create watchdog bodies

Additionally: use of "mentors" (standing experts) - to work alongside Bulgarians on extended mission basis - identification of structures and sectors which could benefit.

1 This will allow an easier and even less costly administration of the public register, in view of providing access to it.
